HIPS DAWES PROGRAM

Quincy, Ill.—Senator Hendrik Shipstead of Minnesota today, in a speech before the House, charged that the "government has not been used for the purposes" set forth in the constitution. He asserted that La Follette was committed to the real American policy in our foreign relations.

CALLED UPON TO AID

Washington—Trade union organizations throughout the country were called upon by the A. F. of L. national non-partisan political campaign committee to aid in the La Follette-Wheeler campaign.

LEGION CONDEMNS STATE'S ATTITUDE

Resolution Approves Defense Day Plans and Scores Wisconsin Government.

A resolution condemning the government of Wisconsin for its failure to endorse National Defense day, Sept. 12, and pledging unqualified approval of the movement as sponsored by President Coolidge, was drawn up Wednesday by the resolution committee of Richard Ellis Post No. 265, American Legion. The act was ordered at a recent meeting of the post.

The resolution states that the American Legion believes a national defense day will serve a useful purpose which may eventually result in the saving of the health and lives of many of the young men and women of the country, especially if the program is given the desired cooperation.

Definite plans for the observance of the day in Janesville are as yet only in the formative stage. With the return of John Gross, commander, to the city, the committee will be appointed to arrange for a celebration. Mr. Gross is now in the east.

The resolution as drawn by the committee, a copy of which has been sent to Governor Blaine, is:

"AND WHEREAS, September 12, 1924, has been designated as National Defense day by act of our national congress and by proclamation of our president; and WHEREAS, the members of the Richard Ellis Post, No. 265, Wisconsin Department of the American Legion, are still mindful of the cost of our country and to our comrades during the World war in loss of health and life;

"AND WHEREAS, the members of this post believe that a National Defense day serves a useful purpose which may eventually result in the saving of the health and lives of many of the young men and women of our country, especially if the national program for Defense day is given the desired cooperation which it deserves;

"THEREFORE, be it hereby resolved, that Richard Ellis Post No. 265 of the Wisconsin Department of the American Legion favors and unqualifiedly approves the establishment and observance of a National Defense day;

"Be it further resolved, that this post condemn the failure of the government of our state and other states to co-operate in the high school;

"Be it further resolved, that this post participate in the observance of the Defense day;

"Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this post and that a copy be sent to the Governor of this state;

"RICHARD ELLIS POST, No. 265, Wisconsin Department, American Legion."

AUGUST, 1924, NOT SO WET; YEAR '06 HAD WETTER MONTH

Madison—August, 1924, is not the wettest in history for 18 years ago, August, 1906, had a rainfall of 5.54 inches in comparison with 2.44 inches this year, according to the records of the U. S. weather bureau at the University of Wisconsin, of which Eric L. Miller is chief.

In fact, the period between Jan. 1 and July 31, 1924, is characterized by a deficiency in rainfall of 1.1 inches in comparison with the average dry spring of the heavy rainfall of the summer months.

In the opinion of a Scotch meteorologist, based upon all the data he has gathered, a rainfall of 8.81 inches for the month of August is a practical impossibility. He bases this statement on the following facts: The average amount of rainfall for the month is 3.21 inches and the standard of deviation is 1.10; a deviation of four times the standard of 4.44 inches is almost non-existent, therefore 5.60 inches plus 2.21 inches cannot happen.

The chances of twice the standard deviation occurring are 1 against 1 and of three times 356 against 1. Hence the present August has made one of 23 chances for doubling the amount of rainfall, no very great record at all.

Clinton Village Gave 228 for Hirst

A transposition of the figures in Clinton Village and Poutville caused the patriotic list of the village in the southeast corner of Rock county when the Gazette arrived Wednesday. It was justified, since Clinton Village gave a large vote for Hirst and they were credited with 25. The result in Clinton Village on governor was, Blaine, 51; Cummins, 3; and Hirst, 228. In Poutville, the vote was, Blaine, 25; Cummins, 7; and Hirst, 25. In the table, the Poutville figures were given for Clinton Village and reverse. Clinton was one of the strongest Hirst voting precincts of the county.

EXPENDITURES OF CANDIDATES LIGHT

Madison—Financial reports filed with the secretary of state by the three gubernatorial candidates in the primary election campaign show total expenditures of less than $5,000. Reports filed by the various candidates follow:

Blaine, receipts, $1,120; disbursements, $2,250; net, $1,130.

Hirst, receipts, $3,727; disbursements, $3,530.

Cummins, receipts, $900; disbursements, $2,830.

Attorney General Keen disclosed $336 for his campaign, his personal report shows.

WILL REPRESENT BOARD

Chicago—Weymouth, Chicago, Chicago attorney, was designated by the United States department of justice to represent the railroad labor board in the federal litigation for the recognition of its alleged right to compel attendance and testimony of certain witnesses.

REACTION BEATEN, DECLARES BLAINE

Primary Results Victory for People, Statement of Governor.

Madison—Governor Blaine expressed gratification over results of the primary election in a statement issued here today. He termed the results as a victory for the progressive "against reaction, intolerance and hysteria."

"Late returns indicate that my plurality is crowding close to the 75,000 mark, with the probability of carrying 65 counties and with a vote of nearly 50,000 over any other candidate having opposition on the state ticket," the governor's statement said. "In view of the light vote cast, this is very gratifying."

Holds Verdict Clear

"The larger aspect of the situation is that the progressives of this state have won a signal victory against reaction, intolerance and hysteria. I endeavored to present every issue frankly and specifically so that the verdict, when rendered would not be left in doubt. The people have spoken emphatically."

"I am not certain about the complexion of the legislature. I believe a legislature has been elected that will carry out the people's will and the people have emphatically indicated that they will insist upon cooperation by the legislature with the governor in promoting economy, reducing the tax burdens and distributing these burdens more equitably."

"People's Victory"

"During the primary campaign, I presented the proposition that the permanency of the progressive movement demands economy in government and the levying of taxes according to the ability to pay, not more taxes. The electors overwhelmingly approved that proposition and have demanded that every state official and the legislature cooperate with the governor in carrying out that program."

The victory just recorded is the people's victory, and I take this means of publicly expressing my thanks and gratitude to the thousands of unselfish but willing workers who made the victory possible and to that portion of the press of Wisconsin that carried the truth from which the overwhelming majority formed their judgment.

Statements from the other candidates are expected to be forthcoming.

NOTED PUBLISHED DEAD

New York—Arrangements are being made today for burial at Lithopolis, O., of Adam W. Wagner, 81, one of the founders and president of the publishing firm of Funk and Wagnalls, who died last night at the Southampton, N. Y., home of his daughter, Mrs. Mabel Wagner Jones.

DEADLOCK THEORY USED AS CAMPAIGN TALK BY PARTIES

vent the elevation of Charles W. Bryan to the presidency. The country and congress will have three months in which to think about the kind of president to be selected. But the slogan of an election thrown into the hands of representatives is not necessarily Bryan. It may be Davis and it may be Coolidge. The conservative democrats and the republicans in combination in the senate could pick Charles C. Dawes as vice president if they didn't want Bryan and if the house were deadlocked as between Coolidge, Davis and La Follette.

All this may sound new; but it is becoming concretely near at hand every day as the possibility of a deadlock is visualized.

The theory that a radical will be president is based only upon the idea that the conservatives of the country, republicans and democrats, would be unable to make him closer to the La Follette republicans in the house than is President Coolidge. The La Follette group will hold the balance of power. If they were assured of a vote in the next administration and of a working coalition with the conservatives, as occurred in the last session of congress in both houses, they may prefer Davis to Coolidge. If such assurance are indicated they will naturally help keep the situation deadlocked in the house in the hope of having Charles W. Bryan selected as vice president, and that means the presidency on March 4 if the house has failed to choose a president before that date. Those three months after Nov. 4 would mean a breakdown in early lines and a recombination by the conservatives of whether they should combine either for Coolidge or for Davis and checkmate the radical ascendancy in the senate.

As it stands today both the Coolidge and Davis spokesmen can make out a plausible argument to get voters so as to prevent the election from being thrown into the house of representatives.

"Pop" Geers is dead. And in his passing, the harness racing world loses one of its most notable gentlemen. Not only was Geers, the premier champion of the past four decades, but he was a remarkable influence for the good of the game. One of the proudest boasts of the "Grand Old Man of the Trotting Turf" was that at no time had he ever lost a race. He considered it his business to train and drive horses, to talk little and to win races. Betting he considered as a detriment that had an undue influence on drivers who dipped into it. While he was a wise head in handling his horses in the race, he played the game square, took the time to show by the clocks without quibbling and went into each race with one purpose: to give the spectators what they came for—a race. Geers had a wonderful sense of the value of horse flesh. Through some uncanny ability, that he could not explain himself, he could attend a sale, look the horses over and see which one was the best. He had been known to pick out a crude looking animal and make a champion of it. It was the day after the loss of the race with Death, that "Pop" never handled a horse better than he did his own life.

DIAMOND SPARKLES (By Associated Press)

The prominent sisters, blonde daughters of former Judge Kenosha Mountain Landis, are engaged in a serious battle with Stanley Harrel and Wilbert Robinson, John McGraw and Miller Huggins, who have been keeping steady company with the two sisters since 1921, are finding their time being beaten by rival suitors, although McGraw is hanging on tenaciously in a spirited battle with Robinson and McGraw for the coveted hand of the elder sister. The sudden appearance of Clete Whelan, Robinson's former pilot of Brooklyn, in the romance, is causing consternation among the rivals. In the event of a divorce, McGraw and Robinson, McGraw's attitude at the top of the heap, seven points ahead of Pittsburgh and 11 points ahead of Brooklyn with the running, McGraw is finally out of the running. The three leaders Wednesday all strengthened their claims for a date to take Miss Pennant to the world's series by winning from their rivals. New York, leading Boston, 4-1, Pittsburgh leading a longshot streak to St. Louis, 14-1, and Brooklyn lambasting the Phillies (10-0) and 7-0. In the other national league contest, Chicago blanked Cincinnati, 6-0. The race for the hand of Miss American Pennant, the winner of the New York, has now moved down to a two-way race. Miller Huggins called Wednesday and strengthened his argument for the coveted date when McGraw's claim to show up his team remaining idle. "The Yankees bumped on their Boston rivals, 11-0," Detroit, previously considered a serious contender, is virtually eliminated, though mathematically the Tigers stand a chance to come through. The Huggins Wednesday turned back the Chicago Cubs, 7-0, and McGraw, but even with this added impetus they are far in the back and their chances appear almost hopeless at this writing. St. Louis, now in the lead, is still in the first division and the latter looking in from the outside pulled the Athletics and Giants, 7-0, and the Indians the second, 9-5.
